Granny square slippers: adults version

www.mundocrochet.com

Over 20 years ago my grandmother gave me a pair of crocheted slippers that I wore until they broke old.

Luckily, instead of throwing them away, my mom kept one and gave it to me recently so I could use the pattern to crochet a pair for my daughters.

It is a very simple design, but with a beautiful result.

You only have to crochet 8 granny squares using the pattern and colour combination that you prefer (there are infinite combinations that you can do) and join them following a scheme. In the photos above you can see 2 versions, one for adults crocheted using a granny square pattern where the center is round; and one for children crocheted using the pattern of the classic granny square.

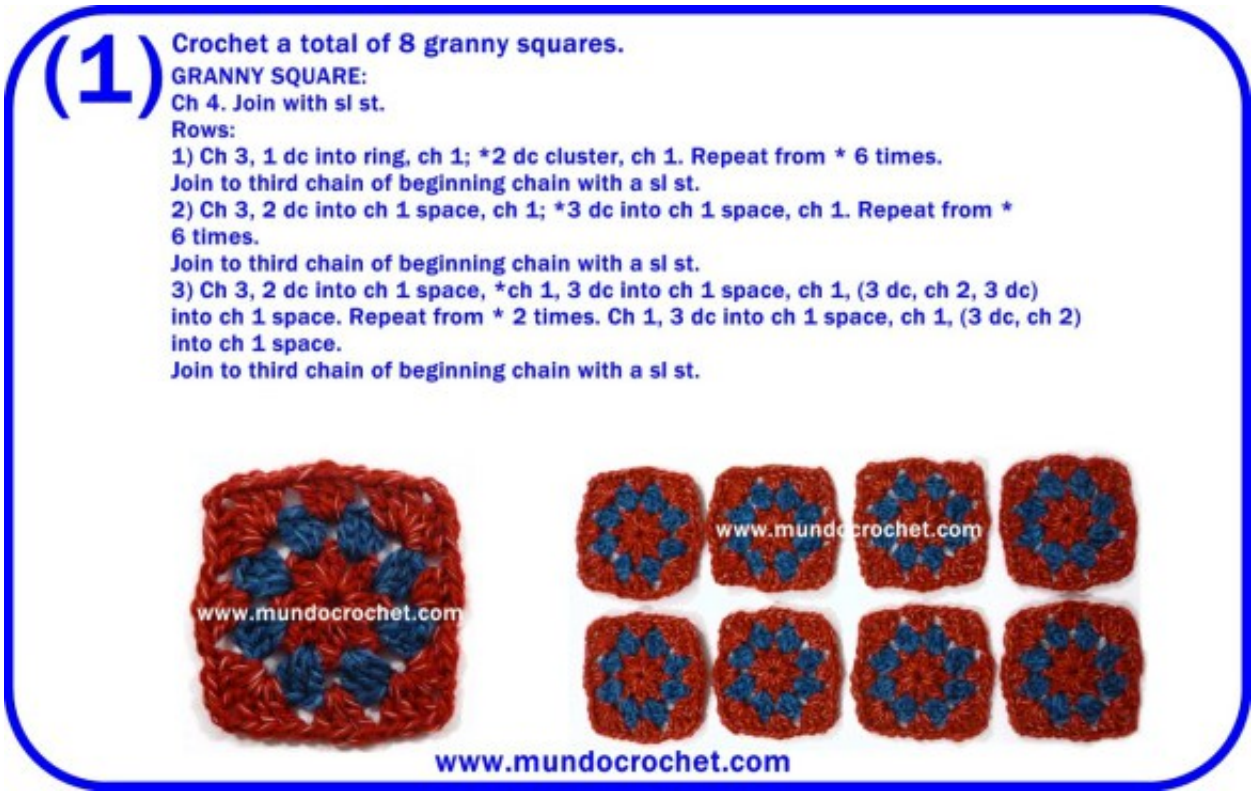

You can use single crochet stitch, slip stich or sew the squares to join them. The final result will be the same.

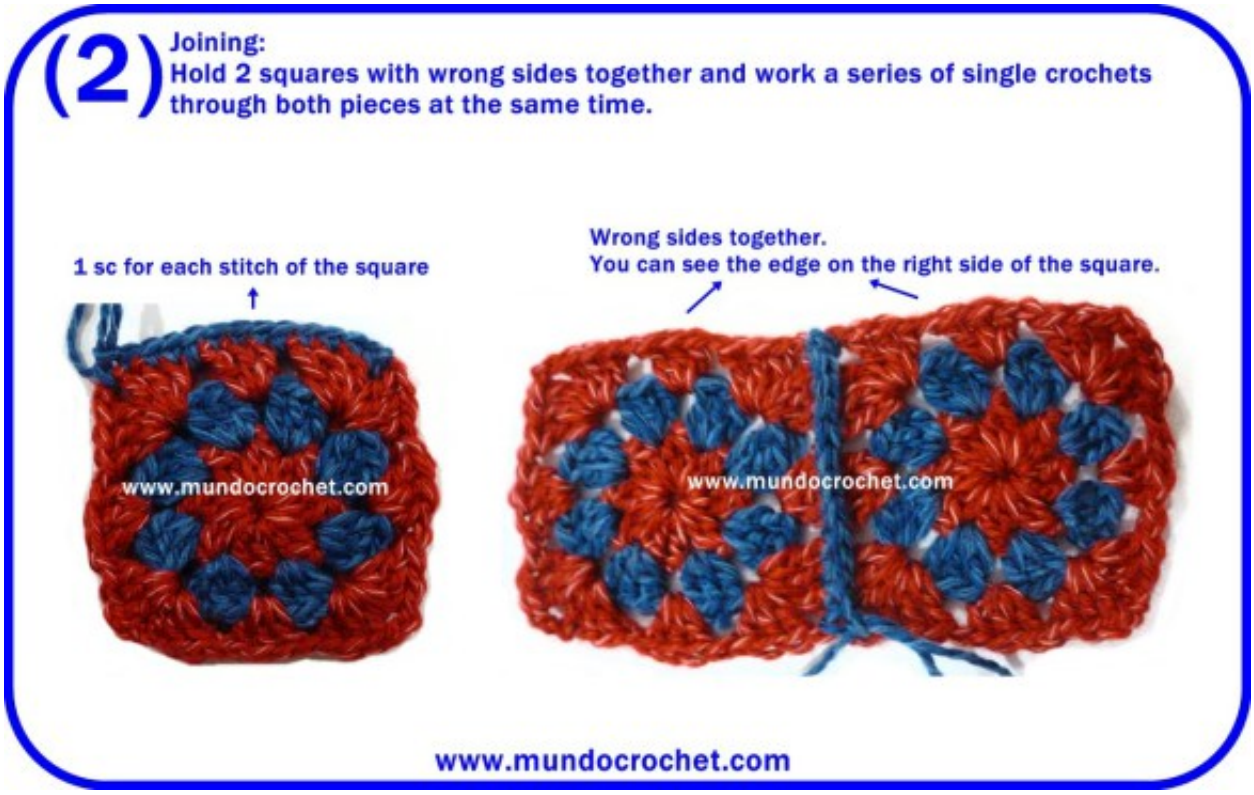

Here you can see the joining diagram:

The order to join the squares depends on what you prefer, you can start with the heel squares, the toe squares, in the sole. If you follow the diagram, the final result will be the same.

To make you easier to understand, here are a step by step with the order to join the squares that I found easier:

(2) Joining:
Hold 2 squares with wrong sides together and work a series of single crochets through both pieces at the same time.
1 sc for each stitch of the square
Wrong sides together.
You can see the edge on the right side of the square.

(3) Continue joining the next side. In the corners we will work 2 sc:

(4) Repeat steps 2 and 3 with 2 other square.
One part will form the toe and the other will form the heel.
They will look like this:

(5) Join two more squares to the toe as seen in the picture:

(6) Fold the squares of the sides and join to the toe as seen in the picture:

(7) In the corners we will work 2 sc. When we join 3 squares, we will crochet a slip stitch to avoid space between the edges:

(8) Join the heel as seen in the picture:

(9) Join the last 2 squares. In one of them we are going to sew on a button; in the other will crochet a buttonhole:

(10) For the buttonhole crochet 3 ch. On the right you can see the step by step to crochet the buttonhole:

(11) Sew a button.
That's how the finished slipper looks:

For those who prefer to follow a pattern:

To adjust the size, you only have to add more rounds to the square.

I hope you like it.
